Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 17 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Breezy with some sunny spells. Brightest in the east.

Today:
Bright and breezy, with sunny spells and perhaps one or two showers, the showers more likely in the west. Probably becoming cloudier later, with western parts perhaps seeing patchy rain. Feeling rather cool, especially as the wind strengthens later. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Breezy overnight, with western areas seeing occasional light rain, perhaps becoming more generalised to end the night. Clearer at times in eastern areas, perhaps allowing a local frost. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Monday:
Breezy and rather cloudy, with a chance of some rain during the morning. Probably becoming drier for a time, ahead of heavier, more persistent rain spreading northeast into the evening. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
This period becoming much more unsettled. Some rain and hill snow likely Tuesday. Probably drier for a time Wednesday, ahead of colder conditions Thursday, with snow and strong winds possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.